

Revalidation – I retire in 3 years is it worth it?

Annual appraisals and revalidation are an essential part of being a GP. It is a lengthy process that requires dedicated time on top of an already busy schedule.

There is now a service that can help you.

The GP Hub can provide administrative support to complete the appraisal process, whether you are still working as a GP, or already retired.

The GP Support Hub can source courses or materials required to complete the revalidation process.
